

Deer-Resistant Plants

Deer can be unwelcome visitors to your garden. You may find them feasting on your plants, particularly from October to February. While no plant is 100% deer-resistant, some have qualities that deter them. Deer typically stay away from plants with textured foliage or a strong scent. They also leave toxic plants alone, like foxgloves and daffodils.

Popular Annuals

Alyssum
Cleome
Daffodils
(Narcissus)
Dusty Miller
Hot Peppers
Lantana
Marigolds
(Calendula)
Nasturtium
Pentas
Poppies
Salvia
Snapdragons
Verbena
Wax Begonias
Zinnia

Popular Trees & Shrubs

Barberries
Boxwoods
Buddleia
(Butterfly Bush)
Chinese Hollies
Crapemyrtles
Elderberries
Japanese Maples
Ninebark
Pawpaw Tree
Peonies
Rose of Sharon
Serviceberries
Weigela
Witchhazel
Yucca

Popular Perennials

Allium
Astilbe
Coreopsis
(Tickseed)
Creeping Thyme
Echinacea
(Coneflower)
Ferns
Foxglove
(Digitalis)
Hellebores
(Lenten Rose)
Lavender
Mint
Muhly Grass
Nepeta
(Catmint)
Rosemary
Rudbeckia
(Black-Eyed Susan)
Sage

